Chapter 114: The Decrease of the Clones' Power

In a deliberate and calculated move to maintain balance across the multiverse, the Divine Triad—Sung Jin-Woo, Sung Su-Ho, and Ashborn—decided to reduce the power of their clones. After their power had multiplied to unprecedented levels due to the expansion of their dominion and the flow of time in their inner worlds, the Triad deemed it necessary to decrease the clones' power from 5% each to a mere 0.05% each of the original body’s strength.

This adjustment meant that the combined power of all five clones per member of the Divine Triad would now equal 0.25% of the original’s total power.

Reasons for the Power Reduction

1. Balance Across the Realms
The overwhelming strength of the clones, even at 5%, posed a risk of destabilizing the multiverse. The Divine Triad sought to ensure that their power remained distributed evenly without causing unnecessary destruction or imbalance.

2. Avoiding Overreach
The Divine Triad had already established unparalleled control and authority through their clones. By reducing their clones' power, they ensured that their creations operated with precision and focus rather than overwhelming force.

3. Test of Skill and Strategy
Even with a reduction in raw power, the clones were still embodiments of the Divine Triad’s intellect, combat skills, and mastery of their respective abilities. The reduced power would push the clones to rely on strategy, ingenuity, and efficiency in battle, proving their worth against powerful opponents like the Constellations.

Capabilities of the Clones at 0.05% Power

Despite the drastic decrease, each clone still retained immense strength, enough to:

Combat Constellations Alone: A single clone could easily challenge and overpower a Constellation, proving their resilience and mastery over divine powers.

Command Armies: Each clone could still manage vast armies, utilizing their strategic prowess to achieve decisive victories.

Shape Realms: Their mastery of divine energy allowed them to maintain their inner worlds, guide their emissaries, and ensure their domains thrived.

Impact on the Multiverse

1. Clarity of Leadership
With the clones operating at reduced power, their role as leaders, mentors, and guides became more pronounced. They inspired their forces not through overwhelming strength but through wisdom and strategic excellence.

2. Proof of Supremacy
The Divine Triad's decision to reduce their clones' power and still maintain dominance was a testament to their unparalleled strength. It sent a clear message to all beings: even at a fraction of their power, the Triad remained unrivaled.

This strategic adjustment ensured that the Divine Triad’s influence remained steady while showcasing their mastery over balance and control. Their ability to empower their creations, even under constraints, solidified their position as the ultimate rulers of the multiverse.
